

These women will be given an opportunity to look at Megaro and see if they can identify him as the solicitor stranger. DRUGGED NEEDLE IS FOUND IN THEATRE BOX.

Mrs. Graff is a comely young woman. She showed a little scar on the back of her right hand when she took the witness stand in court today. This, she said, was the mark left by the needle. Mrs. Graff said she is the daughter of Dr. Algernon Higgins of No. 414 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn, and a granddaughter of Algernon S. Higgins, a noted Brooklyn educator. She was married to Graff, she said, last Saturday evening at the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church in Brooklyn and immediately after the ceremony she and her husband left for Atlantic City. Graff, she said, is a graduate of Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University, and is employed as an engineer by a firm at No. 35 Pine street.

The couple remained at Atlantic City two days, Mrs. Graff said, and then started home, but stopped at Newark, going first to the Continental Hotel and then to the Belvidere at No. 89 Broad street. Mrs. Graff went to business yesterday, and in the afternoon Mrs. Graff went to the Lyric in Broad street, a couple of blocks from the hotel. FELT NEEDLE PRICK AS SHE STOOPED FOR COAT.

She took a seat in a box, of which she was the only occupant for a time. Later she said Megaro, who was sitting in another box, entered and sat beside her. Megaro did not speak to her, Mrs. Graff said, and she noticed him only casually. Her coat dropped from a chair and she reached to pick it up. As she did so she felt what seemed to be the prick of a pin on the back of her right hand.

Almost immediately, Mrs. Graff said, she felt a numb sensation in her hand, which rapidly spread up into her arm. Alarmed, she gathered up her coat and went to the ladies' retiring room, where she told her experience to the matron. By that time she was quite dizzy, but she did not faint. The matron gave her a dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia, which caused her to revive, and then she summoned the manager and told him what had happened.

He telephoned Police Headquarters and two detectives, arriving in a few minutes, went to the box where Mrs. Graff had been sitting, found Megaro there and invited him outside. There he was arrested at the request of the house manager. Mrs. Graff said she didn't want to make a complaint as she had not seen Megaro afterward with the needle, but her husband, who was summoned from New York, insisted that she should appear against the prisoner. NO NEEDLES OR DRUGS FOUND ON THE PRISONER.

Megaro was searched at Police Headquarters. No needles or drugs were found in his possession.

He was not represented by counsel in today's court proceedings, but said he would like to make a statement. His defense was that he knew nothing about the needle and that another man, who had sat next to him and Mrs. Graff, got up and followed him out. After hearing Detective Tule and looking at the needle in evidence, Judge Fahs decided to hold Megaro for the action of the Grand Jury.

Megaro says he is a nephew of Dr. Panerazo Megaro of No. 315 High street, a well known Newark physician.

RUNAWAY HORSE KILLS BOY.

Driver and Friend Held After Yonkers Tragedy.

Raymond Ryan, eight, son of Peter Ryan of 42 Palisade avenue, was killed by a runaway horse in Yonkers today. The horse belongs to C. J. Horton of No. 146 Riverside avenue and ran away on Palisade avenue. The Ryan boy was walking along the sidewalk when the horse hit him, knocking him down. His skull was fractured and he was dead when carried into the hospital a short distance away.

William S. Freely, the driver of the wagon, escaped injury but William Clark of 206 Two Hundred and Fifth street, New York, who was riding in the wagon was hurled out and had a leg broken. He and Freely are under detention by order of Coroner Dunn.

MAY KILL 3-CENT FARE LINE.

Report Shows It Has Not Agreed With Rivals.

Justice Thomas in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn this afternoon confirmed the report of the commissioners appointed to look into the right of the Manhattan Bridge three-cent fare line to run cars from Flatbush to Desborough street in Manhattan. The commission found that the three-cent fare people had failed to come to any agreement regarding compensation with the New York City Transit Company and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, and that unless the Legislature enacted special legislation allowing them to run over the tracks of the other companies the three-cent charter might lapse.

SHOT OVER CRAP GAME.

Won Stakes and Is Hit by Two Bullets—Man Escapes.

In a quarrel over a game of crap this afternoon at Fifty-first street and Seventh avenue, Brooklyn, a man, a bricklayer, was shot by an Italian laborer known to the police only as "Screw".

Porro, who had won all of his assailant's money, was struck in the chest and neck. Policeman Schaefer, who was protecting school children at a crossing two blocks away, chased the man who used the revolver but lost track of him.

Worker Loses All His Fingers.

Benjamin Freumorgen of No. 308 East One Hundred and Twentieth street, a wax pressman, was so injured at his work today that the removal of all the fingers of both hands was necessary at Lincoln Hospital. Dr. Delamater found that five of the ten fingers had already been cut off by his machine.

HUERTA SECRETLY SENDS HIS FAMILY OFF TO VERA CRUZ

Dictator Goes Part of Way, Which Starts Report He Had Fled City.

REBELS FIGHT AT TULA.

Driving Federals Back in Battle That Was Begun on Last Tuesday.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 5.—The family of Provisional President Huerta is said to have gone secretly to Vera Cruz on Nov. 30 and to be living quietly in that city. Where their presence is known to only a few intimate friends. The departure of the Huerta family on that date on a special train gave rise to the report that the President himself had left Mexico City, which was, however, quickly disproved.

The report in regard to Gen. Huerta was based on the fact that he boarded the special train early in the morning and accompanied his family as far as Texcoco, a few miles out, and returned from there to the Federal capital in an automobile.

WILSON ASSAILED ON THE WAY.

Commenting on the initiative in connection with the National Guard taken by James Hay, Congressman from Virginia, in introducing the Army volunteer bill into the House of Representatives at Washington, El Diario says: "Following President Wilson's flat declaration that he will not intervene at least by force of arms in our affairs, Congressman Hay asks the American Congress to give the Executive ample powers to call on the National Guard for active service."

The newspaper proceeds to comment sarcastically upon "the unanimity of thought" indicated by "the contradictory attitude of President Wilson and the Chairman of the House of Representatives Committee on Military Affairs." It continues:

"The Mexican question has had perhaps in a minor degree the effect of the Dreyfus case in France—of confounding all critics—with this difference, however, that although the citizens and partisans in France lost their heads the Government of France maintained its serenity and coolness. In the United States the first to lose its bearings was the Government and the United States show themselves to be under better self control than the chief American Magistrate."

"His change of front toward us accentuated by the press and by influential leaders has long been noticeable. Since nothing happens without some good coming from it, the rebels themselves, the spoiled children of President Wilson, have by their evil deeds inspired the American people, the conservative press and the reasonable leaders of the Senate and the House of Representatives, with the conviction that the aims of the revolution are unworthy and a menace to civilization."

The editorial concludes: "In any event, be our destiny what it may, it always will be a consolation to us that in the American Congress there are such leaders as Mann, who defend us against the rage of the Government like M. Jules Fabre and his friends defended us against the Second Empire, which trampled on us as today the Government at the White House would like to do."

REBELS IN BATTLE WITH FEDERALS AT TULA.

BROWNVILLE, Texas, Dec. 5.—That two thousand rebels commanded by Gen. Carranza Torres and one thousand Federals led by Gen. Teodoro were today engaged in a battle near Tula, forty miles south of Victoria, for control of rich oil fields, was the word received here today. Latest advices placed the number of Federals killed at 200. No estimate was made of the rebel loss.

According to the dispatches, the Federals were steadily losing ground, and it was expected that they could not hold out much longer. The fighting began Tuesday night.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Dec. 5.—Although within a few miles of the city with 7,000 troops, Gen. Villa had not entered the city of Chihuahua at noon today. Villa regards the possession of the city as a formality since Gov. Federico Moya was instructed by Gen. Salvador Mercado, Huerta's deserting military commander, to turn the city over to the rebels. Before leaving Chihuahua, Gen. Mercado, at the request of the United States Consul, Marion Fletcher, and other consuls, left 200 soldiers for police duty, the promise being that the rebels on entering the city would not molest these men. The Federal police, however, took flight at the rebel approach and fled. The consuls then prevailed on citizens to do the policing.

Woman Who Is Special Examiner In Telephone 'Trust Busting' Suit

MISS MARY E. BELL

(Special to The Evening World.) PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Miss Mary E. Bell of Portland, Ore., is presiding over the Government inquiry into affairs of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, commonly called the Bell Telephone Trust. Suit has been brought by the Department of Justice against the company on the Pacific coast, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Judge Robert S. Bean of the United States District Court at Portland appointed Miss Bell special examiner to take testimony preliminary to the trial of the case, and in this official capacity she has come to the Eastern States to conduct examinations. Miss Bell is secretary and stenographer to Judge Bean.

mission today by Secretary of War Garrison. He said it was doubtful if the usual army manoeuvres or joint militia instruction could be held next year because of the "probable continued assignment of most of the regular army along the Mexican border line."

the public was kept in ignorance of the fate of its bills.

"The procedure should be like that of a clerk and a calendar, so that the public might always know the status of any bill. Business should be taken up in order."

Senator Root turned to the proposed State Board of Estimate and declared: "There is nothing worse in our Government than the way we throw money away. The Senate and the Assembly should have the approval of the Governor, and their appropriations should be subject to the approval of the Governor, except in instances of grave necessity."

"I shall say little about direct primaries, though I wish to make this observation: All devices looking to direct nominations now are not finalities which are advocated because of their intrinsic worth; they are merely the attempts of the people to get away from the bad old worn out system which we have all outgrown."

BOSTON'S MAYOR COLLAPSES

Thirty Days for Selling Liquor.

Samuel Vonnels, who conducted a restaurant on the west side of Sea Side Walk, south of the Bowery on Coney Island, could not discriminate between detective customers and any other brand of customers. For that reason he was ordered to pay a fine of $30 and to serve a sentence of thirty days for selling liquor without a license. The case was tried in Special Sessions at Brooklyn today.

M'LEAN GIVES BAIL ON INDICTMENT AS STATE BAGMAN

Treasurer of Democratic Committee Surrenders Himself, but Ready to Fight.

FOWLER'S CASE HEARD.

Attorney Attacks Validity of First Indictment Against the Kingston Man.

Arthur A. McLean, Treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, who was indicted yesterday for accepting campaign contributions from the Shaugnessy Construction Company and the Dale Engineering Company in the fall of 1912, surrendered himself today in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. Everett P. Fowler, who was indicted with McLean on a charge of soliciting the Dale Engineering Company contribution, also surrendered himself and said he was ready to plead.

Mr. McLean was accompanied by his counsel, Isidor Kresel, of the firm of Jerome, Rand & Kresel and by a representative of the National Surety Company, who was prepared to give bail. Mr. Kresel's appearance for Mr. McLean was only temporary, as John R. Stanchfield, who is out of the city today, is to be the counsel for the defense when the matter comes up for active argument.

Mr. Fowler was accompanied to court by his counsel, Martin W. Littleton. It was a double day in court for Mr. Fowler, for he was not only to plead to the indictment found yesterday, but listen to Mr. Littleton's argument in favor of the dismissal of the indictment found three weeks ago, charging Mr. Fowler with extorting by threats a campaign contribution from a Republican contractor named Seneca P. Hull of Connecticut.

LITTLETON ATTACKS FIRST INDICTMENT AGAINST FOWLER.

Mr. Littleton was in first class form and quoted many authorities to support his contention that if the facts alleged in the indictment are true Mr. Fowler's crime was committed in Onondaga County, where Mr. Hull gave Mr. Fowler a check in the Kelly Building in Syracuse. The fact that the check passed through banks in this city for collection was incidental to the transaction, Mr. Littleton contended.

Assistant District Attorney Clark replied to Mr. Littleton. He contended that New York County has jurisdiction in the Hull matter because, while the check was made out and delivered in Syracuse it was sent here to Democratic State Headquarters at Fifth avenue and Thirty-fourth street and deposited to the credit of the treasurer of the State committee. Justice Davis, remarking that the indictment charged that money was extorted from Hull and not that a check was extorted from him, said he would give each side a week in which to prepare briefs.

JUDGE FIXES M'LEAN'S BAIL AT $2,500.

Mr. McLean was then arraigned on the two indictments. Mr. Kresel in his behalf pleaded not guilty. Mr. Clark wanted bail fixed at $2,500 in each case. Mr. Kresel said he thought $2,500 was enough to cover both indictments. Justice Davis fixed bail at $2,500 on the two indictments.

Mr. Fowler was arraigned. Mr. Littleton pleaded not guilty for him. The bail of $2,000 furnished on the first indictment of Mr. Fowler was extended to cover the second.

The graft inquiry Grand Jury began this afternoon an investigation into charges that Thomas Hoesett, confidential adviser to State Engineer Bonad, extorted $1,500 from Madison R. Aldrich, a Poughkeepsie contractor, for getting Aldrich's bill of $17,000 for road work through the State Highways Department. The witnesses subpoenaed were Aldrich, James Neville, an employee of the State Highways Department, and Robert Anderson, the latter two alleged to be eye witnesses of the payment of the money.

SKYSCRAPER REPORT PLEASES MAYOR, WHO LIKES BIG BUILDINGS

Advisory Board Suggests Wider Street Areas Proportionate With Additional Height.

Mayor Kline says he is glad the Advisory Committee of the Board of Estimate on the Height of Buildings does not propose to prevent the construction of tall buildings in the future, but, on the contrary, makes provision for such structures. The Advisory Board, whose report is now in the hands of the Board of Estimate, suggests the setting back of the street walls above a certain limit, one foot for each four feet of increased height.

The Mayor says he thinks considerable legislation will be required to carry out the provisions of the commission. The report shows, the Mayor says, that there are numerous instances where high buildings have impaired the renting value of adjacent property. "Whether it is true or not that the tallest buildings do not pay the best I do not know," observes the Mayor. "It seems to me very reasonable, as the report points out, that the great amount of space required in the big buildings for the entrance hall, elevators, stairs and services might be a serious item in the financial account of a large building. It is plain that when tall buildings are crowded closely together there are necessarily many offices which rent at low figures. It would be a great thing for the future if tall buildings could be so constructed that every room would have natural light."

CRUSADE ON SPEEDERS HAS DESIRED EFFECT

Only Five Arrests Made Last Night by Motorcycle Squad—Many Are Fined.

The grist of automobile speeders produced before Magistrate Murphy in the West Side Court diminished to five today. The motorcycle policemen reported a good disposition to obey the law after the heavy fines, with the alternative of ten days' imprisonment, imposed by Magistrate Murphy and others in the last few days.

Forty offenders whose cases were adjourned from Monday took their sentences of $50 fines. Only five were unable to pay and were sent to the lockup. Five more arrests were made last night. One of those summoned was Charles Thompson of No. 428 Riverside avenue, who produced evidence that he had driven an automobile for fifteen years without once being summoned, arrested and warned and that he actually came to a stop in the block on which he was accused of speeding. The Magistrate said he thought Thompson must have been confused by the policeman with another motorist.

DODGES PRISON TERM; BECOMES STORE MANAGER

Convicted Policeman Found to Be Superintendent of Big Chicago Establishment.

(Special to The Evening World.) CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The case of Joshua Tedford, formerly a policeman, who has escaped serving a prison sentence, presented today a curious problem for solution.

In 1904 Tedford, then a policeman, was convicted of conspiring to send a State's witness away from the court's jurisdiction. Judge Brennan sentenced him to serve from one to five years in the penitentiary.

The court's ruling was pigeonholed in some manner and the matter passed from the minds of those interested. The case was brought to the attention of Chief Justice Olsen today by a young lawyer. An investigation was ordered and it was found that Tedford is now superintendent of the Hub Clothing Store, one of the largest in Chicago, where he had entered the house detective and been steadily promoted. The Governor may be asked to pardon Tedford.

GLYNN SEES NOTABLES IN WASHINGTON ON NEW YORK POLITICS

His Primary Law Also a Topic With Bryan, Hughes and Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Gov. Glynn of New York talked with several administration officials today about the political situation in his State. After a conference with Secretary Bryan and a call upon Justice Hughes and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, he went to the White House and conferred at length with Secretary Tumulty on primary reform.

Owing to the President's illness the Governor did not see him, but Secretary Tumulty arranged an engagement for later. Gov. Glynn did not discuss his visit, but it was learned at the White House that he had expressed himself in favor of a primary law that would eliminate State conventions so far as nominations were concerned and would retain conventions merely for ratification of the verdict of the primary and the drafting of party platforms.

His plan would include the elimination of party emblems or what is known as the Massachusetts ballot. It is understood that an alternative plan to have the primaries also is being considered by Gov. Glynn.

WOMAN "DIP" MISSING.

Falls to Appear in Court and Bond of $2,000 Is Forfeited.

Annie Harris, whom the police call the "Queen of Shoplifters" and whom Detectives McKenna and Casanova arrested after a hard fight at Fifth avenue and Fortieth street last night after they had seen her, they say, take $21 from a woman's handbag, failed to appear in the Jefferson Market Court this morning and Magistrate Harris forfeited her bail of $2,000, supplied by Abraham Teitel of No. 21 Fifth street, Charles McCauley, who represented her, promised Magistrate Harris to have her in court to-morrow if the Magistrate would hold the papers. Magistrate Harris consented.

Mrs. Clara Bloxson, of No. 4 East Seventieth street, was in court to press a charge of robbery.

The Harris woman's husband is known as Joseph Feltenberger, or "English Joe." He came up for sentence today before Judge Rosalesky in General Sessions, having been convicted of pocket picking.

STRIKERS IN AUTO DASH, SHOOT DOWN BREAKERS

Fire as They Rush by Men in Wagon—Four Persons Wounded in Rioting.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 5.—Terrorism broke out apparently on the union side of the teamsters' strike today when in two well-planned assaults on strike-breakers four men were shot, one badly fatally.

Besides a brick shower that was followed by practitioners shooting and the shooting of two Cincinnati strike-breakers early this forenoon, a new method of attack was made at noon when an auto load of men drove swiftly past a non-union wagon and two shot-guns loaded with birdshot were discharged fairly in the face of the two non-union negro drivers. Jesse Simms, sixteen years old, and Walter Highmeyer, twenty-one years, both suffered painful wounds about the face and Highmeyer's right eye may be blinded, but their condition is not regarded as critical at the hospital.
